"The Miller" . . . . . Eaton Faning

Chorus and Orchestra

Merrily, O merrily, the mill-wheel turns today, with splash,
For the miller's heart, the miller's heart is gay.
Merrily, O merrily, O merrily, the mill-wheel turns today
With splash and dash, with splash and dash, and merry crash,
For the miller's heart is gay,
O merrily the mill-wheel turns today, with splash and dash,
And merry crash, with splash and dash, and merry crash,
For the miller's heart is gay,—his heart is gay.
Wearily, Wearily,
There came at even tide, a maiden fair, with shining hair,
Over the dark hill-side;
A maiden fair, with shining hair,
Over the dark hill-side;
Cheerily, O cheerily the miller spake; quoth he,
"Great joy were mine Didst thou incline, Sweet maid, my bride to be;
Great joy were mine Didst thou incline, Sweet maid, sweet maid, my bride to be."
Joyfully, O joyfully, the maiden spake her "yea;"
And the bells rang soon a merry, merry, tune,
For the miller's wedding day, for the miller's wedding day.
Now lustily, O lustily, the miller singeth he;
His voice keeps time with the water's chime,
And his heart from care is free,
Merrily, O merrily, O merrily, the mill-wheel whirls around,
With splash and dash, and merry crash, for the miller joy hath found,
O merrily, the mill-wheel whirls around, with splash and dash,
And merry crash, with splash and dash, and merry crash,
For the miller joy hath found, the miller joy hath found.
